Video Editing for Professionals

Program Overview

This 7-week program is designed for professionals who already edit with Adobe Premiere Pro or similar software and want to elevate their craft to a studio-level standard. The course focuses on creative storytelling, cinematic editing, motion graphics, and advanced color grading. Students will learn to integrate AI-driven tools, refine their editing workflow, and build a polished professional reel. Through real-world projects, participants will gain skills in post-production, audio design, color correction, compositing, and client presentation—bridging creative direction with technical mastery. By the end of the program, participants will have a complete professional reel showcasing mastery in editing, color grading, audio design, motion graphics, and campaign delivery across multiple platforms.

Earning Potential

Experienced video editors can find consistent full-time and freelance work with production houses, marketing agencies, and corporate media teams. Many build independent client networks producing branded content, advertising campaigns, or film and social media projects. After several years of professional experience, skilled editors typically earn between $80,000 and $150,000 annually, with top freelancers and post-production specialists often exceeding that range through recurring contracts and high-end commercial work.

Important Dates

- Registration deadline: December 31, 2025
